About the Author

Walter Antoniotti began teaching mathematics related college business courses 37 years ago for Daniel Webster College, Nashua, New Hampshire. Soon he became an Associate Professor of Business Administration and Chairperson of the Department of Aviation Management. He finished as the Director of Admissions.

After one year of teaching high school math, Walter became the Director of the Concord, N.H. campus for Franklin Pierce College. He later became the Director and then Dean of Continuing Education where he helped build one of New England's most successful Continuing Education programs.

He finished his 25 years at Franklin Pierce College as Special Assistant For Program Development.

Today Walter is retired and spends his time golfing and trying to improve education using technology.

Walter Antoniotti has a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio, and a Master's of Business Administration degree from Northeastern University, Boston, Massachusetts.

Walter Antoniotti would like to thank his many students who used the class handouts that eventually became the Quick Notes Series. Their many suggestions made Quick Notes easier to use and understand.
